DAIRY MAIDS AND GENTS 4-H CLUB

Club of Distinction Winner 2021

WHAT WE DID

TThe 2021 4-H year will always be one to remember! In order to follow the Covid guidelines, the Dairy Maids & Gents 4-H club started the year doing meetings virtually, but ended the year with in-person meetings. Members planted flowers, mulched, and painted a bench around the dairy barn at the fairgrounds. During a meeting, 4-H members put together book mark kits for the Caitlin Smiles organization, which sends craft kits for children with illnesses visiting hospitals.. Alumni and members from the Dairy Maids & Gents made and painted a bench which was presented to the family members and donated to the fairgrounds in memory of Paul Wagner, Jerry Hatcher, and Bob Harrer (the advisors who started the club in 1967).

The cloverbuds learned about the food groups.They made crafts, played games, led pledges, and shared snacks. They even made a recipe book that had each cloverbud's recipe and picture.

Members were happy that the fair was able to happen with style review, royalty contest, Jr. Fair Board activities, barn games, showman of showman, working the food stand, and even more activities. Many members received ribbons for their projects, and some were even selected to compete at the Ohio State Fair. But most important were the friendships made and the life skills learned from completing a year of 4-H!

Tiro Tailors and Balers 4-H Club had an amazing year despite all of the new challenges and changes. Throughout the year the club completed various community service projects, had guest speakers, and completed annual club activities; such as officer elections and member demonstrations.

As the summer began, the club had several members who were able to attend Kelleys Island 4-H Camp. These members had a great time and encourage everyone to attend camp if able. The club was also extremely active leading up to the fair, preparing both the club flowerbed and booth. Members also participated in still project judging, livestock skillathonm, and various animal weigh-ins. Once the fair began, members and advisors worked the 4-H food stand to give back to the fairgoers and 4-H program. The cloverbud members enjoyed going to share time and telling the judges about all their activities throughout the year. After a crazy week of livestock shows, various judgings, and of course a ton of fun, the club celebrated with an end of the year pool party.

WHAT WE DID

The Whetstone Go-Getters had a great year. The club was able to help the community by cleaning up the grounds at Acres of Adventure which will provide various groups educational opportunities. In keeping with the agriculture theme, the club was visited by bee-keeper Tim Robinette. Tim was a fascinating speaker and gave the youth an insight to "bee life". The club also had two main fundraisers that both went very well and were able to provide the club resources for the year & a fun ice cream party.

At the fair, members were able to work the 4-H food stand, decorate the fair booth, upkeep the club flowerbed, and participate in events throughout the week. Overall the 4-H year was very enjoyable! The club ended the year with an end of the year party and they can't wait to continue learning and growing next year.

WHAT WE DID

The North Robinson Ribbons 4-H Club started their meetings on March 4th and have been busy ever since! The club participated in a cleanup effort at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, both inside and out, as a way to thank them for the use of their meeting space. Throughout the meetings, club officers lead the meetings with their best ability of Parliamentary Procedure and reports were always ready to be shared. The members also never failed with their demonstrations and the obvious enjoyment they get from their projects. We are so proud of our older members for continuously acting as role models; we even had two members selected as camp counselors in 2021.

When it came time for the fair, the club "dug" in and planted flowers in the club flowerbed. Their efforts were not in vain and earned them 1st place in the Company's Coming Contest. Members all did really well at the fair and we had several members continue on to show at the State Fair. It was a great year and we look forward to the return of our members next year!

All our members each had their own success with project interviews and judging this year at the fair. The greatest accomplishments the club members had this year was working together and the older kids mentoring the younger members with their projects and how to make motions and have discussions during a meeting.
