Grain Marketing and Farm Management

This two part program can be attended as a series or if your schedule only allows for one night you won’t be lost. March 6th we will have a corn market outlook and March 20th will be a soybean market outlook. Mixed in with these two we will be discussing types of grain marketing programs and how to determine what your risk capacity is. We will also be discussing how to make your records do more than your taxes and benchmark your efficiency against other operations in the state.

If we have a large number of reservations location maybe subject to change
